Moledo - Stunning off-the-grid property bordered by a water stream and small natural water falls

Stunning off-the-grid property bordered by a water stream and natural water falls created by granite stones on the land. The total area is 4480 m² and has playful design. At the top of the property there is an ideal space to place a temporary structure or a wooden cabin. There is currently a steel structure with plastic cover that will stay on the land. A flat space is already created that was meant to place a wooden cabin.

There is a nice, long terrace with olive trees and the soil there is ideal for cultivating. Here is where the water from the higher grounds come to a stop by the use of previously dug channels that are still usable.
